Alltrucks and TotalEnergies extend strategic cooperation

Alltrucks Truck & Trailer Service and TotalEnergies continue their Europe-wide cooperation. The approximately 700 Alltrucks partner workshops will further benefit from advantages offered by the energy company. TotalEnergies pursues its strategy to directly access commercial vehicle workshops in Europe.

Munich. The positive cooperation between the multi-brand full-service workshop concept "Alltrucks Truck & Trailer Service" and the French energy company TotalEnergies, which started in 2018, will continue until at least 2026.

The successful cooperation between Alltrucks and TotalEnergies ensures for both partners important benefits. The workshops connected to the Alltrucks workshop network receive oil and lubricants directly from the manufacturer at advantageous conditions and have access to technical information regarding various product applications. In addition, the Alltrucks workshops profit from favorable conditions in connection with TotalEnergies fuel cards and the installation of TotalEnergies toll boxes, that cover the most important toll systems in Europe. Furthermore, the cooperation provides the opportunity for direct consulting by TotalEnergies, which enables the workshops to expand their own service competences.

Homer Smyrliadis, Managing Director of Alltrucks, is very pleased about the extension of the cooperation. "We are proud that TotalEnergies continues to invest on the cooperation with Alltrucks. The globally successful group is working intensively on new energy solutions for the mobility of tomorrow. This partnership enables a direct transfer of know-how and prepares the way for future technologies in our workshop network. Thus, the cooperation with TotalEnergies not only expands the current business opportunities of our workshops but prepares also our network for future challenges."

TotalEnergies is also pleased to continue its cooperation with Alltrucks, which will allow the group to further expand its direct access to numerous commercial vehicle workshops throughout Europe. Jean Parizot, Vice President Automotive from TotalEnergies Lubrificants: "We have been working with Alltrucks for many years. The renewal of our strategic partnership reflects our mutual trust and common goal towards excellence and the provision of high-quality services. We are proud of this growing collaboration with the Alltrucks franchise through our Rubia range."
